ACQUISITION AND PROCESSING INFORMATION

Accession number(s)	2017.006
Provenance	Transferred to the archives by the Worcester State University advancement office.
Processing information	Materials were housed in archival boxes in folders and organized. Materials were arranged into series and placed in acid-free archival folders and boxes.
Biographical and historical information	This collection contains the papers of Clinton Everett Carpenter (1892 - 1946). Born in Seekonk, MA on June 3, 1892, Carpenter graduated from Attleborough High School in 1911 and entered into the Bridgewater State Normal School in 1914. Carpenter was a school teacher in Seekonk at the time of both his marriage to Alice Beatrice Upham and his draft into WWI in 1917. Near the end of the war, Carpenter was one of two American veterans selected to study at the University of Clermont-Ferrand in France, where he focused on the public school system of Paris. After returning home, Carpenter worked as a teacher in the Taunton (MA) public schools and served as a principal of the Mark Hopkins school in North Adams (MA) for several years. Carpenter completed graduate work in education at Harvard, Columbia and New York Universities before receiving his Masters in Education from Boston University in 1932. In 1928 Carpenter became the director of teacher training at the Fitchburg State Normal School (MA) where he spent 12 years, before becoming the 4th president of Worcester State Teachers College on December 31, 1939. Carpenter navigated the school through the difficult post-depression years as well as the entirety of the Second World War. Carpenter also served as the Treasurer of the New England Teacher Preparation Association for one year before his death (1945-1946). Carpenter died while in office on June 20, 1946 at 54 years old.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

This collection contains papers relevant to Clinton Carpenter's time as the director of teacher training at the Fitchburg State Normal School (1928-1936) as well as his time as President of the Worcester State Teachers College (1940-1946). These include his speaking notes, some of which are undated, and his correspondence with students during World War II. The correspondence during the war was both personal and professional as some of it relates to students continuing their studies while enlisted. This collection also includes Carpenters mother's Bible, some unidentified family photographs and a leather letter box, which were found in his office at his time of death.
